DEFINITIONS

Accepted Authors Manuscript ("AAM")

Author's version of the manuscript of a paper that has been accepted for publication and which may include any author-incorporated changes suggested through the peer review process. AAMs should not include, however, other publisher value added contributions such as formatting, pagination, and copy-editing, and should include the Appropriate Bibliographic Citation and a link to the final publication (generally through the relevant DOI).

Appropriate Bibliographic Citation

Authors posting Accepted Authors Manuscript online may later add a citation for the Published Conference Article indicating that the paper was subsequently published, and may mention the conference title provided they add the following text at the beginning of the document:

"NOTICE: this is the author's version of a work that was accepted for publication in <Conference title>. Changes resulting from the publishing process, such as peer review, editing, corrections, structural formatting, and other quality control mechanisms may not be reflected in this document. Changes may have been made to this work since it was submitted for publication. A definitive version was subsequently published in PUBLICATION, [VOL#, ISSUE#, (DATE)] DOI#"

Commercial Purposes

The use or posting of articles for commercial gain including the posting by companies or their employee-authored works for use by customers of such companies (e.g. pharmaceutical companies and physician-prescribers); commercial exploitation such as directly associating advertising with such postings; the charging of fees for document delivery or access; or the systematic distribution to others via e-mail lists or list servers (to parties other than known colleagues), whether for a fee or for free.

Internal Institutional Use

Use by the author's institution for classroom teaching at the institution (including distribution of copies, paper or electronic, and use in course-packs and courseware programs) and posting on secure Intranet sites for scholarly purposes.

Personal Use

Use by an author in the author's classroom teaching (including distribution of copies, paper or electronic), distribution of copies to research colleagues for their personal use, use in a subsequent compilation of the author's works, inclusion in a thesis or dissertation, preparation of other derivative works such as extending the article to book-length form, or otherwise using or re-using portions or excerpts in other works (with full acknowledgment of the original publication of the article).

Pre-print

Author's own write-up of research results and analysis that has not been refereed, nor had any other value added to it by a publisher (such as formatting, copy editing, and the like).

Published Conference Article ("PCA")

The definitive final record of published research that appears or will appear in the conference proceedings and embodies all value adding publisher activities including formatting, pagination and copy-editing.

Scholarly Posting

Postings on open Web sites operated by the author or the author's institution for scholarly purposes, or (in connection with Pre-prints) pre-print servers, provided there is no Commercial Purpose involved. Deposit in or posting to Special Subject Repositories (such as PubMed Central) is permitted only under specific agreements and only consistent with IFAC policies concerning such repositories. If the author wishes to refer to the proceedings in connection with such posting, the Appropriate Bibliographic Citation should be used.

US Government employees

- If all co-authors are US Government employees there is no copyright to transfer. Please sign the form, to confirm the author warranties.

Crown Copyright

- UK Government employee authors may elect to transfer copyright.
- UK Government employees wishing to claim Crown Copyright should mark the appropriate box overleaf and sign the form to affirm the author warranties.
- The work of Canadian or Australian Government employees is automatically subject to Crown Copyright. Please mark the appropriate box and sign the form to affirm the author warranties.

Special Subject Repositories

Certain repositories such as PubMed Central ("PMC") are authorized under special arrangement with the IFAC Publisher to process and post certain articles such as those funded by the National Institutes of Health under its Public Access policy (see elsevier.com for more detail on our policy).

Articles accepted for publication in an IFAC-sponsored meetings from authors who have indicated that the underlying research reported in their articles was supported by an NIH grant will be sent by the IFAC publisher to PMC for public access posting 12 months after final publication. Because the NIH 'Public Access' policy is voluntary, authors may elect not to deposit such articles in PMC. If you wish to 'opt out' and not deposit to PMC, you may indicate this by sending an e-mail to secretariat@ifac-control.org.
